No son estudiantes, pero aún tienen mucho que aprender. Hay ciertas decisiones que no deben tomar solos, pero han de asumir demasiada responsabilidad. No residen en el hospital, pero casi Han dejado atrás seis años de carrera y un durísimo examen, y tienen por delante cuatro o cinco años más de aprendizaje. Son los MIR, los médicos internos residentes: mitad médicos, mitad estudiantes. María Valerio ha entrevistado a decenas de ellos para contarnos con gracia y amenidad las tribulaciones de estos médicos que sueñan con llegar a ser oncólogos, cirujanos, cardiólogos, pediatras en un libro trufado de divertidas anécdotas que harán sonreír a todos aquellos que sean residentes, lo quieran llegar a ser, lo hayan sido o los hayan «sufrido» como pacientes.

The regular type of help documentation is really a hard copy manual that's printed, nicely bound, and functional. It operates as a reference manual - skim the TOC or index, get the page, and stick to the directions detail by detail. The challenge using these sorts of documents is the fact that user manuals can often become jumbled and hard to understand. And in order to fix this problem, writers can try and employ things I call "go over here" ways to minimize the wordiness and simplify this content. I've found this approach to be extremely ineffective most of the time. Why? Because anatomía de un mir are considered unsuitable to get flipped through ten times for just one task. That is what online assistance is for.

If you realize your anatomía de un mir so overwhelming, you are able to go ahead and take instructions or guides in the manual individually. Select a special feature you wish to give attention to, browse the manual thoroughly, bring your product and execute what the manual is hinting to complete. Understand what the feature does, using it, and don't go jumping to a different cool feature till you have fully explored the actual one. Working through your owner's manual by doing this assists you to learn everything concerning your digital product the best and most convenient way.
